HURRI-KANE

Kane High School
Kane, Pennsylvania
Volume 41

DEDICATION

We, the class of 1961, dedicate this volume of the Hurri-Kane to Miss Florence Allio for her years of faithful service as an adviser to Hurri-Kane and for her outstanding work as a teacher.

On the heights of the Alleghenies
Stands a high school fair,
There, among great trees abiding—
Pine scent in the air.
There, all nature in its glory,
In summer green, in winter hoary—
Tells the season's wondrous story;
Hail to old Kane High.

True to the spirit of thy mountains,
Hail to old Kane High.
May we e'er aspire to service
For our own Kane High.
Drinking from thy fount of learning,
High ideals within us burning,
May our hearts express our yearning,
In service to Kane High.

To Red and Blue we'll e'er be loyal
Though the years roll by,
Thy Red shall ever stir our courage;
Be ours the victor's cry.
From azure skies our Blue was taken—
Sign of Loyalty unshaken,
Alma Mater ne'er forsaken;
Hail to old Kane High.

ADMINISTRATION

Nearly all the members of the 1961 graduating class will live to the year 2000, and our education must prepare us to live in a world which is radically different from the one in which our parents and teachers were reared.

We, the class of 1961, would like to say that we appreciate the effort put forth by teachers of Kane High School in preparing us to face our future.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Board of Education's main duties are improving the facilities of the school by working with the administration, teachers, custodians, and students so that all can work and learn under the best possible conditions. They are concerned with problems varying from repairs of the building to hiring a competent staff of teachers. Such a variety of duties requires that the members of the board have a wide interest in the school system.

The present Kane Area Joint Board, which consists of the Kane Area Union and Wetmore Township districts, has nineteen members. Officers of the board are Garold Oakes, president; Gustav Olson, treasurer; and Gerald Perry, secretary. Mr. Ralph DeCamp serves as counsel for the board.

CLASSES

With the sounding of the last bell at 8:23, another day of classes was under way at Kane High. Many of us probably felt that classes were just another thing to be endured, but in them we not only learned subject material but also how to live and work with others. From each of our classes there is something that we will retain in our memories.

JUNIORS

Tom, Ann, Richard, and Skip, the leaders of the class

Members of the junior class awaited the beginning of the 1960-61 school term with a feeling of eager anticipation. It was to prove to be an interesting and eventful year which will long be remembered.

Choosing capable class members to lead them through the year's activities was the first task which faced them. This decision was made at a class meeting in October. After this, class dues were set and the juniors were well on their way.

One of the occasions for which all juniors waited anxiously was the day in December when they ordered their class rings. Another highlight of the year was the presentation of the play Kind Lady. Many long rehearsals were held and many difficulties arose, but no one regretted the time and effort spent. The climax of the year's events was the Junior-Senior Prom held in April. Mr. Robert King acted as class adviser.

SOPHOMORES

To most of us bewildered sophomores, Kane High School loomed large and formidable the first day of school. However, with a little luck, a little determination, and a lot of help from everyone, we soon felt at home.

We elected Pete Paulson president of our class; Mick Petruney, vice-president; Barb Branon, secretary; and Penny Strawcutter, treasurer. Mrs. Gardner was our class adviser.

We were very busy all year with term papers and speeches in English; special projects in biology; and one history period took over and taught its own class for six weeks. School activities also took much of our time.

Although we only had one class activity, a party which everyone said was one of the best in years, we have many happy memories to take with us into future years in school.

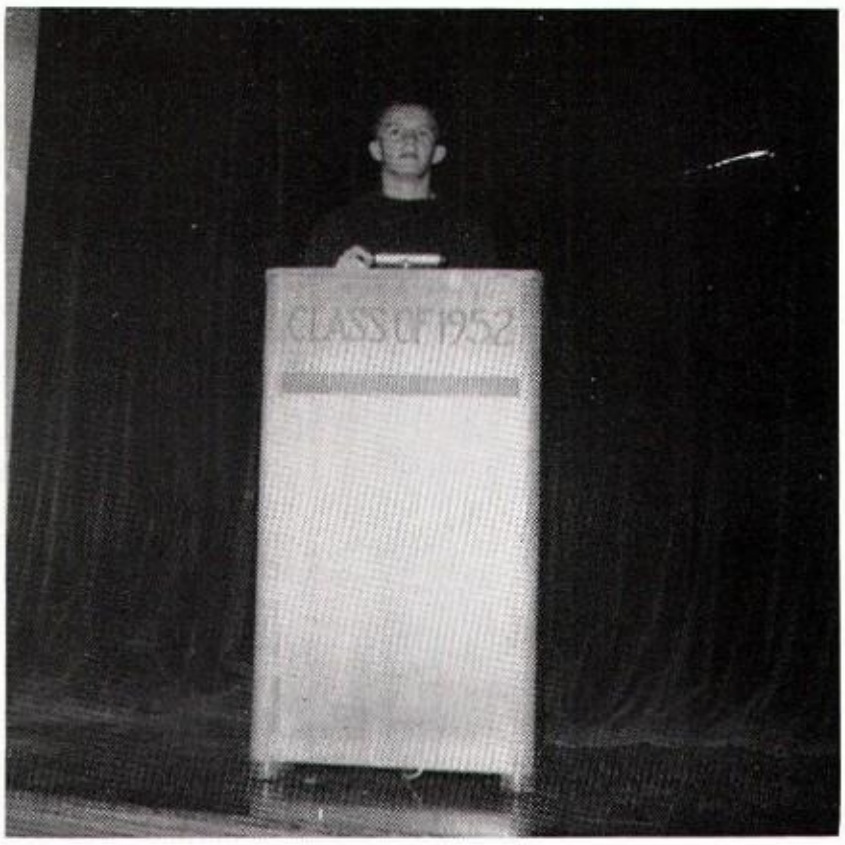
ACTIVITIES

The activities offered in a school are as much a part of the school as the subjects taught there. These activities are important, in addition to the regular classroom work, in giving each student a well-rounded education. The students attending Kane High School are fortunate that activities are offered which cover so many fields of interest.



STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council is an essential part of our school. It consists of members elected from each homeroom and one adviser of the faculty. These members solve the problems that arise in the course of events throughout the year. To develop a feeling of harmony between the students and faculty and to serve, in every way, the best interests of the school are two more purposes of the organization.

Its main project this year is sponsoring our foreign exchange student. At the beginning of this year, a handbook published by Student Council was passed out to all sophomores and new students.

Student Council has four standing committees. All service projects, such as White Christmas, are planned by the Service Committee; choosing assemblies is the job of the Assembly Committee; the monthly menus and menu contests are planned by the Cafeteria Committee; and the Social Committee plans all dances and other social events.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society strives to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in our students. Members are chosen from the top ten per cent of the senior class and top five per cent of the junior class; they are the outstanding examples of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

For this year's assembly a large rainbow—the rainbow of desires—was placed on the stage. One by one the colors were unfurled through speeches given by the seven senior members. Soon these seven figures could be seen as they sought those juniors and seniors whose hopes were fulfilled, as they felt a gentle tap and floated on a cloud of joy to the stage. On stage in their dark robes of honor, they held their flaming torches and solemnly repeated the oath: "I pledge myself to uphold the high purposes of this society . . . striving in every way, by word and deed, to make its ideals the ideals of my school and of my life."

On March 1, a tea was held honoring the newly elected juniors and seniors and their parents. Gregg Turner is the society's adviser.

F. T. A.

This year's Future Teachers of America was ably headed by Ed Malmstrom with Laurie Humphrey as vice-president, Peg Buchheit as secretary and Faye Colker as treasurer.

F.T.A. had a very successful program which included a special tea held in honor of Bob Donovan, president of the student P.S.E.A. A tutoring program was sponsored by members who wished to help others with schoolwork. Also each member had an opportunity to observe teaching methods by attending different grade schools to observe an actual class.

F. H. A.

F.H.A. stands for Future Homemakers of America. It is the national organization of girls and boys studying homemaking in high schools of the United States and territories.

F.H.A. provides opportunities for students to have additional experiences in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking.

Any student enrolled in a high school, public or private who is taking or has taken a homemaking course in junior or senior high school, may become a member.

PHY CHY

Phy Chy, with Edward Bryant as its adviser, provided many opportunities for students taking physics and chemistry to further their interest and knowledge in science. The program planned for each meeting consisted of either a talk given by a professional person of the community or an experiment conducted by members. As in previous years, a field trip concluded the year's activities.

THESPIAN

Under the direction of Mr. Corey, Thespian showed signs of being the biggest, most active dramatic club Kane High has ever had. The group presented The Happy Journey and some of the members spent a Saturday at Olean where they viewed dramatic presentations by other high schools. An evening in March was spent by this group enjoying a stage production of Hamlet in Pittsburgh.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

"The column on the right, please." "Use the card catalogue!" "Reader's Guide is right there." These words can be heard every day from Mrs. Helen Jone's helpers in the library. They consist of twenty-nine girls who give up at least one study hall a week to assist in the work of the library. These girls work mainly at the desk, checking books in and out. The striking bulletin boards shown in the library all year are also designed by this group.

RIFLE CLUB

Rifle Club, in its second year as part of the extra curricular program, was supervised by William Miller. As a member of the National Rifle Association, Rifle Club held one live match and several matches by mail called postal matches. The purpose of this club is to teach the proper methods of handling fire arms and to improve marksmanship.

This year the small bore 22 caliber target rifle was used by the club. Members obtaining sufficiently high scores could win the following medals: marksman, sharpshooter, and expert.

HI-LIFE

This year the Hi-Life, Kane High's semi-weekly school paper, adopted a new editorial policy which it is striving to uphold. The new code consists of Keeping scholastic standard high.

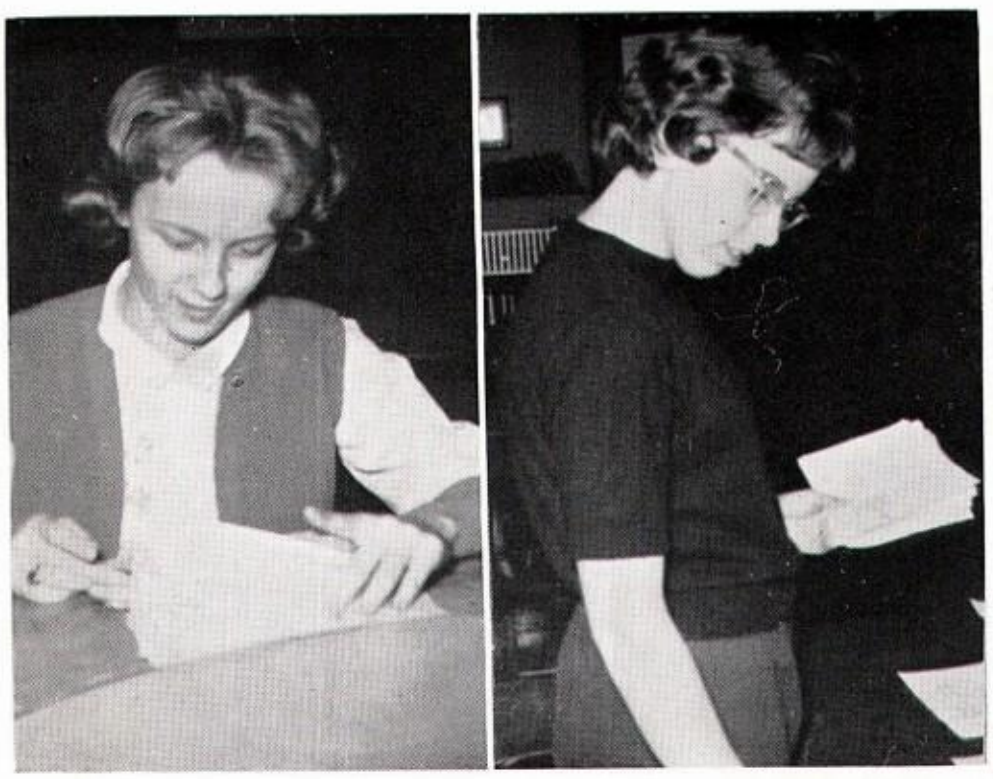
Arousing school spirit
Helping promote student activities
Stating only the facts.

Hi-Life with the advice of Miss Rosana Eckman, and with the reporting skill of the journalism class has continued its long-time record of providing the news to the members of Kane High School on the student level.

HURRI-KANE

Sandy measures pictures for a panel.



Faye types copy.

Rubber cement, flashbulbs, tons of paper, pictures, and with the aid of Jim Richardson's chatter, Hurri-Kane started another busy year.

In October the staff started its annual sponsor campaign to make money for the coming year. As usual, many Kane and area businessmen responded generously to make this year's book a success. Also, a new method of financing was tried this year. Parents and friends were given a chance to contribute and their names were listed on special pages at the back of the book.

Informal pictures by Connie Himes and group pictures by Mr. Robert Carson were taken. They were cut according to correct proportions and glued with rubber cement to a mounting board, and sent to the engraver.

The dummy was completed, the printer's dummy drawn up, and the write-ups, senior prophecy, and senior biographies were turned in and typed for the printer.

The staff worked long and hard, spending many days after school, and every Wednesday night diligently cutting, pasting, typing, writing, proofreading, flashing cameras, identifying pictures and, in general, straightening out their mistakes before the deadline.

The end result of this year's effort is this—our labors and your cooperation—the Hurri-Kane for 1961.

Ruth and Susan take care of finances.

SENIOR PLAY

With a "prithee let it trouble thee not" and a "cannest thou tellest me—" the senior class began its rehearsals for the presentation of A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court adapted from Mark Twain's novel by the same name. The story centered around the adventures and misadventures of an enterprising young engineer, played by John Cox, who was knocked back into the court of King Arthur by an explosion.

The play was directed by Miss Jan Mincer assisted by Mickey Zerbe as student director.

JUNIOR PLAY

A baby that wouldn't cry and a patron of the arts who was no patron, were two of the characters used to build the suspense in the Class of '62's production of the tense melodrama, Kind Lady.

No one would recognize mild-mannered Richard Grandinetti as the hard villain Henry Abbot. Upon gaining entrance to the home of Mary Herries, Suzanna Sarvey, by the pretense of caring for his sick wife, he had every intention of taking over the household.

The many hours of hard work, under the direction of Mr. William Corey, were well worth the thrill of hearing the audiences applause as the curtain closed on the final scene.

Equally as important as the main cast are the backstage helpers. L to R: G. Morris and Joan Quist, student directors; L. Homan, tickets; M. Donovan, costumes; E. Dinger, tickets.

BAND

The Kane High School Band, under the direction of S. Hartley Johnston, stepped into the spotlight at football games last fall with a new fanfare and formation. In addition to performing during halftime, the band added an extra touch of excitement to the football pep parade, assembly programs, and the queen's parade on Homecoming Day.

This year Mr. Johnston added a dance band consisting of twelve members and one singer to the music program. Many hours were spent practicing to prepare this group for their first performance.

Kane High was privileged on April 6, 7, and 8 to host the District Band. The following members participated: Jackie Cohn, oboe; Sue Lundeen, clarinet; Sandy Srock, bassoon; Mary Montgomery, sax; John Gatewood, trumpet; Gary Larson, tuba; Marshall Miller, string bass; and John Paup, tympani.

Time out for a breath of air.

ORCHESTRA

The Kane Area Senior High School Orchestra, which consisted of only nineteen pieces, took an active part in this year's school activities. It's first performance of the year was at the Christmas Carol Festival. Selections played by the orchestra were "The Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairies" and "Christopher, the Christmas Tree." In the latter selection, John Knapp had the narrative, while Ann Westerburg played the piano.

The Kane and Warren High School Orchestras again held their exchange concerts in the months of January and February. At these concerts, a very unusual new number, "The Toy Symphony," was introduced. Many different instruments were used, including the coo-coo, the quail, the nightingale, the rattle, the toy drum, and the toy trumpet.

The Penn Hills High School in Pittsburgh was the scene of Regional Orchestra held from February 16-18. Kane High's representatives were Joan Quist, first violinist and Harriette Hyde, second violinist.

Activities were concluded in June with the Vesper Service and Commencement.

CHORUS

La-la-la-la. These were sounds that could be heard coming from the auditorium every Monday and Wednesday as seventy voices warmed up for the morning's choral practice. The main events of the year were the Christmas Carol Festival and the Spring Concert held in May.

CHORALIERS

"Okay, let's go," shouted Mr. Loren Wright every Tuesday and Thursday morning at 7:45. With these words thirty-three students filed into the music room to begin another day's practice. As in the previous year the singers made many public appearances before civic and religious organizations.

CHEERLEADERS

Every Tuesday, throughout most of the school year, much noise and screaming could be heard coming from the gym. The cause of this noise was the cheerleaders practicing cheers under the supervision of Mrs. Alice Turner. An addition to their squad was little Pam Wright, who acted as mascot.

To help improve the school spirit in sports, the cheerleaders presented, in assemblies, two hilarious skits. In addition to their regular activities, they held two parties during the year, one the annual Christmas Party, and the other a party for their mothers.

ATHLETICS

Taking part in various athletic events not only gives the participants much pleasure but it also teaches them the value of hard work and what can be accomplished with that little something extra.

This year Kane has had perhaps its best year in athletic competition. Coaches who always stress high moral character, building school spirit and the spirit of competition reflect perhaps the real reason why this has been possible.

ROY BRINKLEY

Kane students will long sing the praises of Roy Brinkley.
A man of Iron—A boy of Courage.
Humble in victory—Manly in defeat.
Each game a Challenge—Every student a Friend.
Honesty, Sincerity, Hardwork. Each is a synonym for Roy.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Monty, who's going to line the field? Monty, who's in charge of the concession stand? Monty, how can we buy new uniforms this year? These are a few of the questions asked of Mr. Paul Montgomery, Kane High's faculty member on A.A.

The association assumes the responsibility of scheduling games for the following season in all sports, lining the field, selling food at games, selling athletic tickets, and approving all expenditures of athletic equipment. This year A.A. was headed by John Paup, president.

FOOTBALL

In two of the toughest weeks that the boys on the Kane High football team have ever put in, Ccach Robert King and his assistants, Bruce Rice and Robert Barr, molded the Wolves into the football powerhouse of the area. To prove this, the team ended the season with a fine record of seven wins and one loss.

The first game of the season found the Wolves traveling to Ridgway where they whipped the Elkers by a score of 26-6.

Next to feel the might of the Wolves were the Dutchmen of St. Marys. In a game marred by injuries to two key players, Kane emerged the victor 25-0.

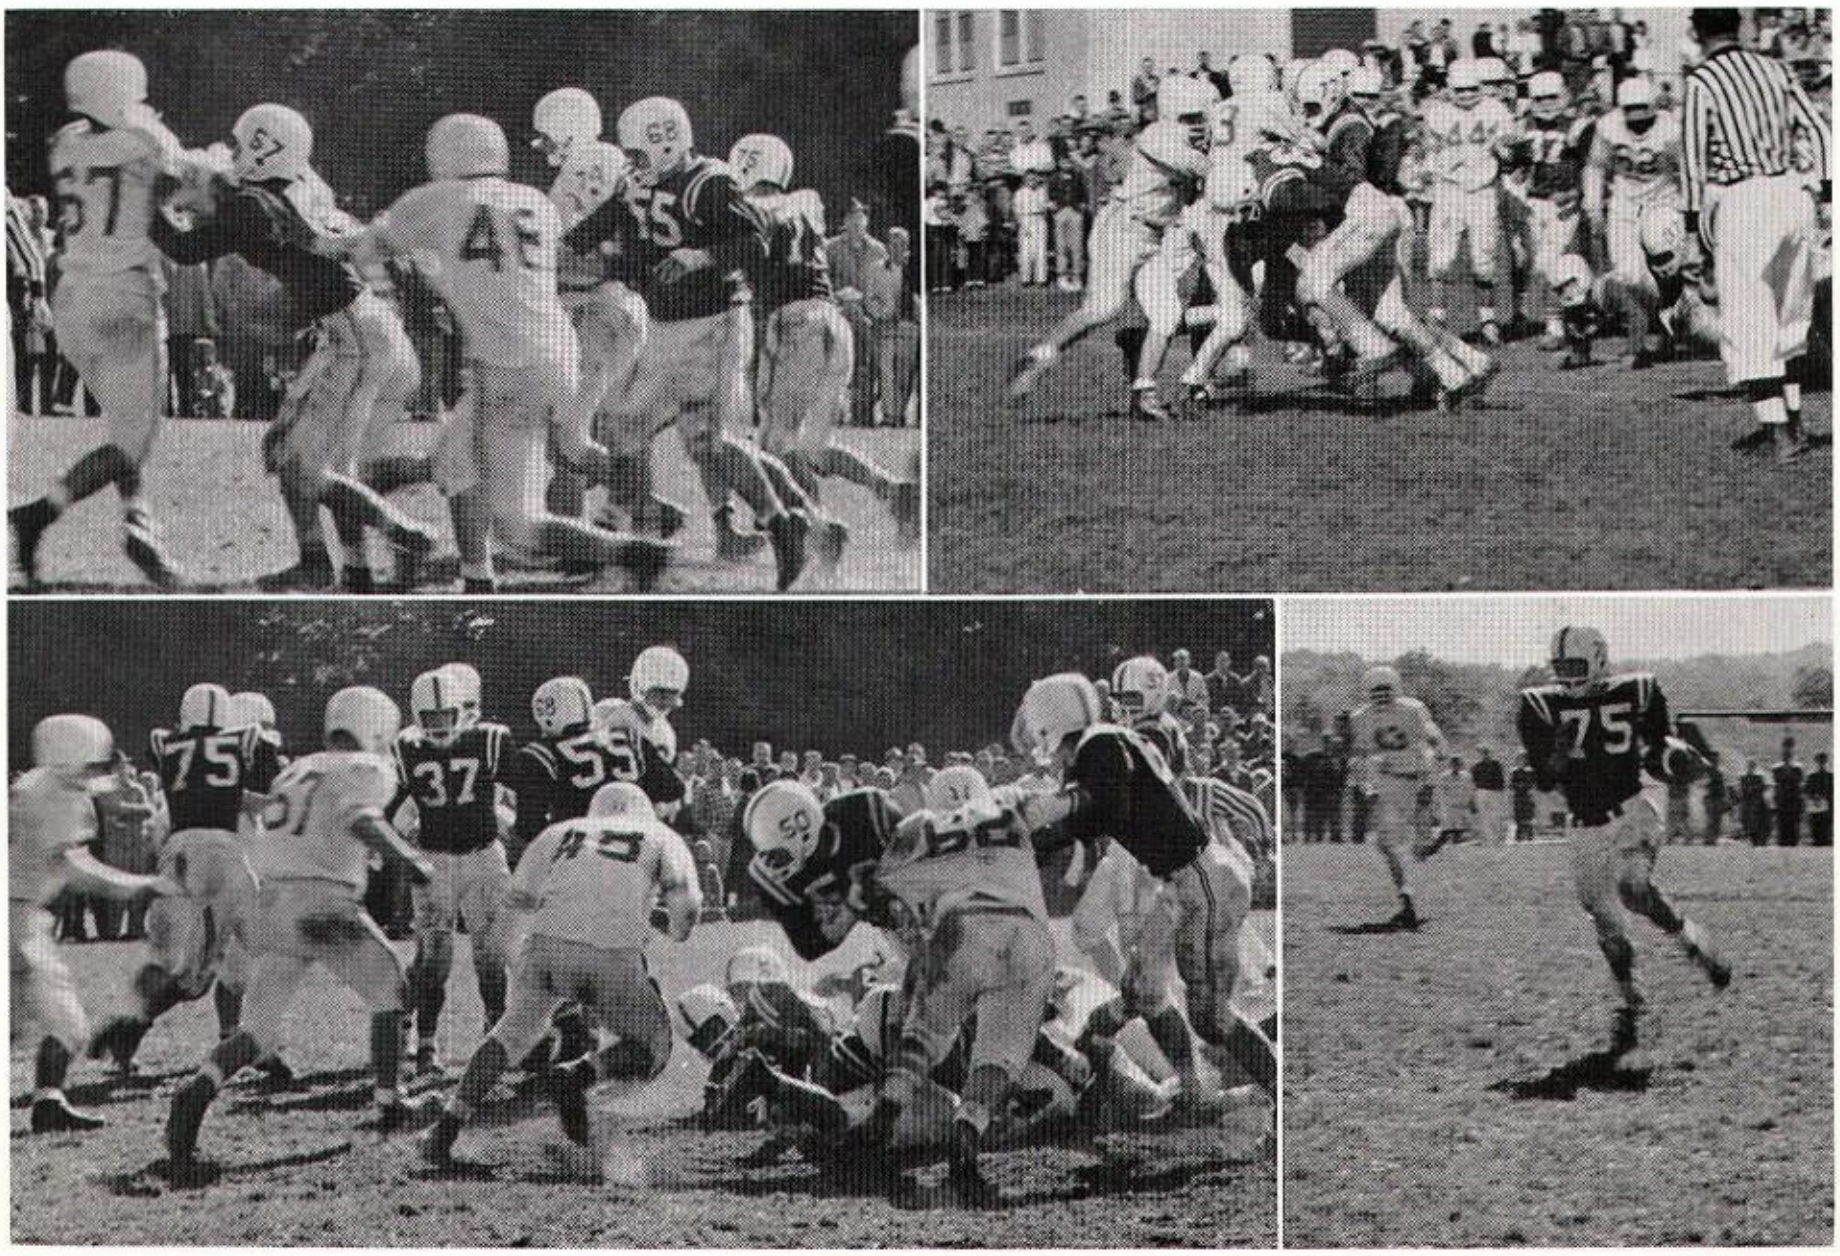
After a thrilling 18-12 win over Salamanca, Kane High's Homecoming Game found the Wolves tangling with arch rival, Johnsonburg. It resulted in a surprisingly easy 33-0 win for Kane and extended their winning streak to four games.

By defeating Port Allegany 33-21 and Bradford by a score of 48-6, the Wolves remained undefeated in six games.

In a disheartening and frustrating game for fans and team alike, the Corry Beavers knocked Kane from the ranks of the untied and undefeated by a 26-12 margin.

This year Kane broke the scoring record of 232 points set in 1951 by chalking up 235 points. The Wolves were led to their fine record by fullback Roy Brinkley who was placed on the Associated Press All State Second Team. It marked the first time that a Kane player was so honored. It was a fine tribute to an outstanding player and sportsman.

Wolves overpower their opponents



HOMECOMING QUEEN

From eight candidates representing senior home rooms, the football players voted Miss Donna Ferranto Homecoming Queen for 1960. Donna, attractively attired in pink, was crowned during half-time ceremonies on October 4, by Roy Brinkley and Ed Malmstrom, co-captains for the day.

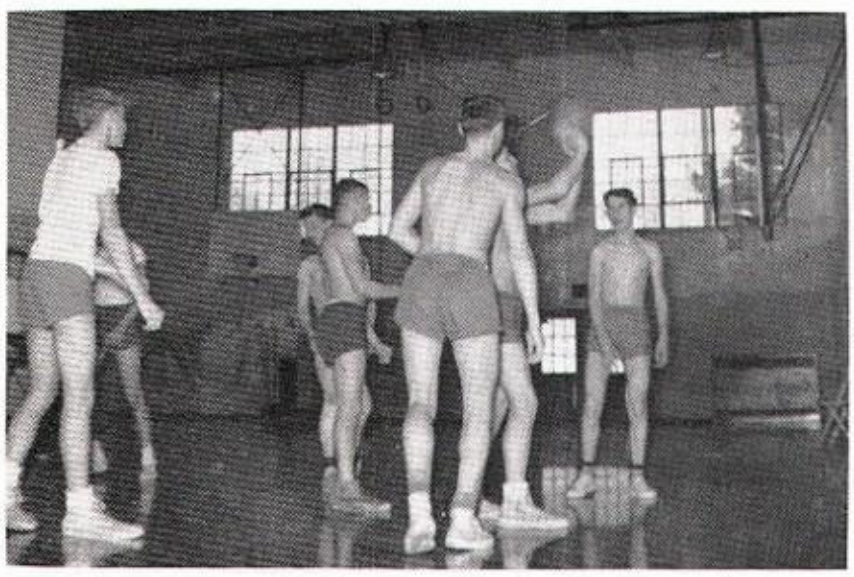
Meckley prepares for another record leap.

TRACK

One of the most successful track seasons in the history of Kane High School was entered in the record books by the 1960 cindermen. To prove that they were one of the strongest teams in the area, they completed the season with a 9 and 0 mark.

During the weeks of competition, many records were shattered by the Wolves. In the Johnson Relays members of the team set records in four events: the distance medley, the junior high 880 relay, the mile relay, and the javelin. In the County Meet, Gary Meckley set a record in the pole vault of 13′ 1½″, and in the District Meet a record of 13′ 3″.

Ten boys, who had won either a first or second place in the District Meet, were eligible for the State Meet held at Penn State. The only one to place, however, was Gary Meckley who, under adverse weather conditions, set a state pole vault record with a jump of 13′ ¾″.



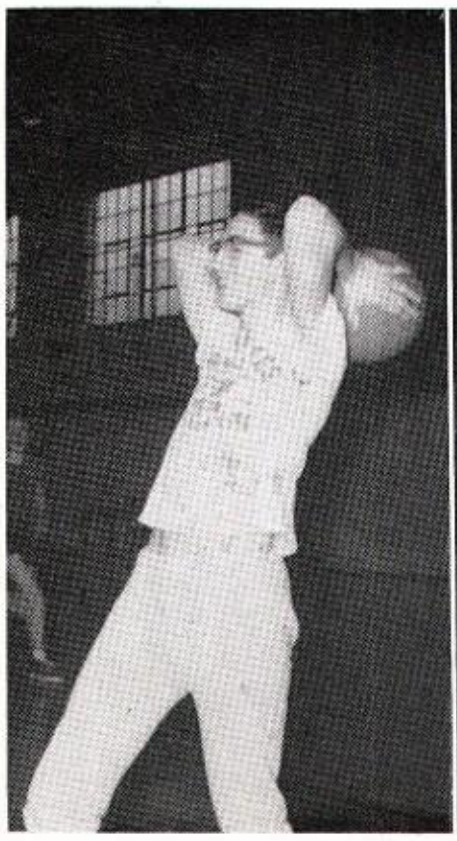
BOYS' INTRAMURALS

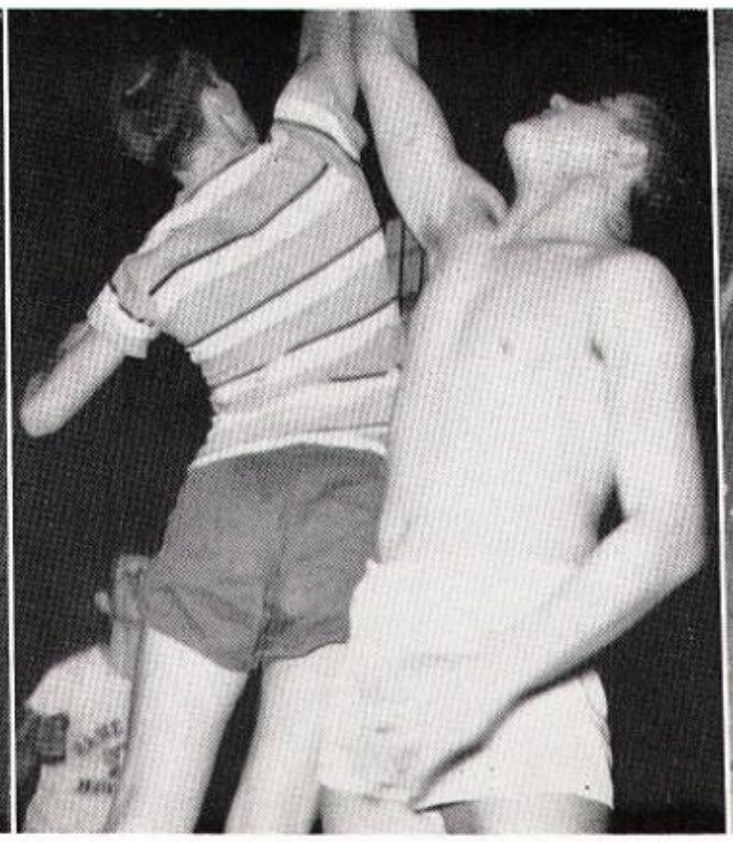
Kane High offers a diversified intramural sports program to give the boys who do not participate in interscholastic sports a chance for individual competition and for learning teamwork. Taking part in the intramural program enables the boys to develop themselves physically and to work together as a team to develop skills in the sports in which they participate. It is also very helpful in developing good sportsmanship.

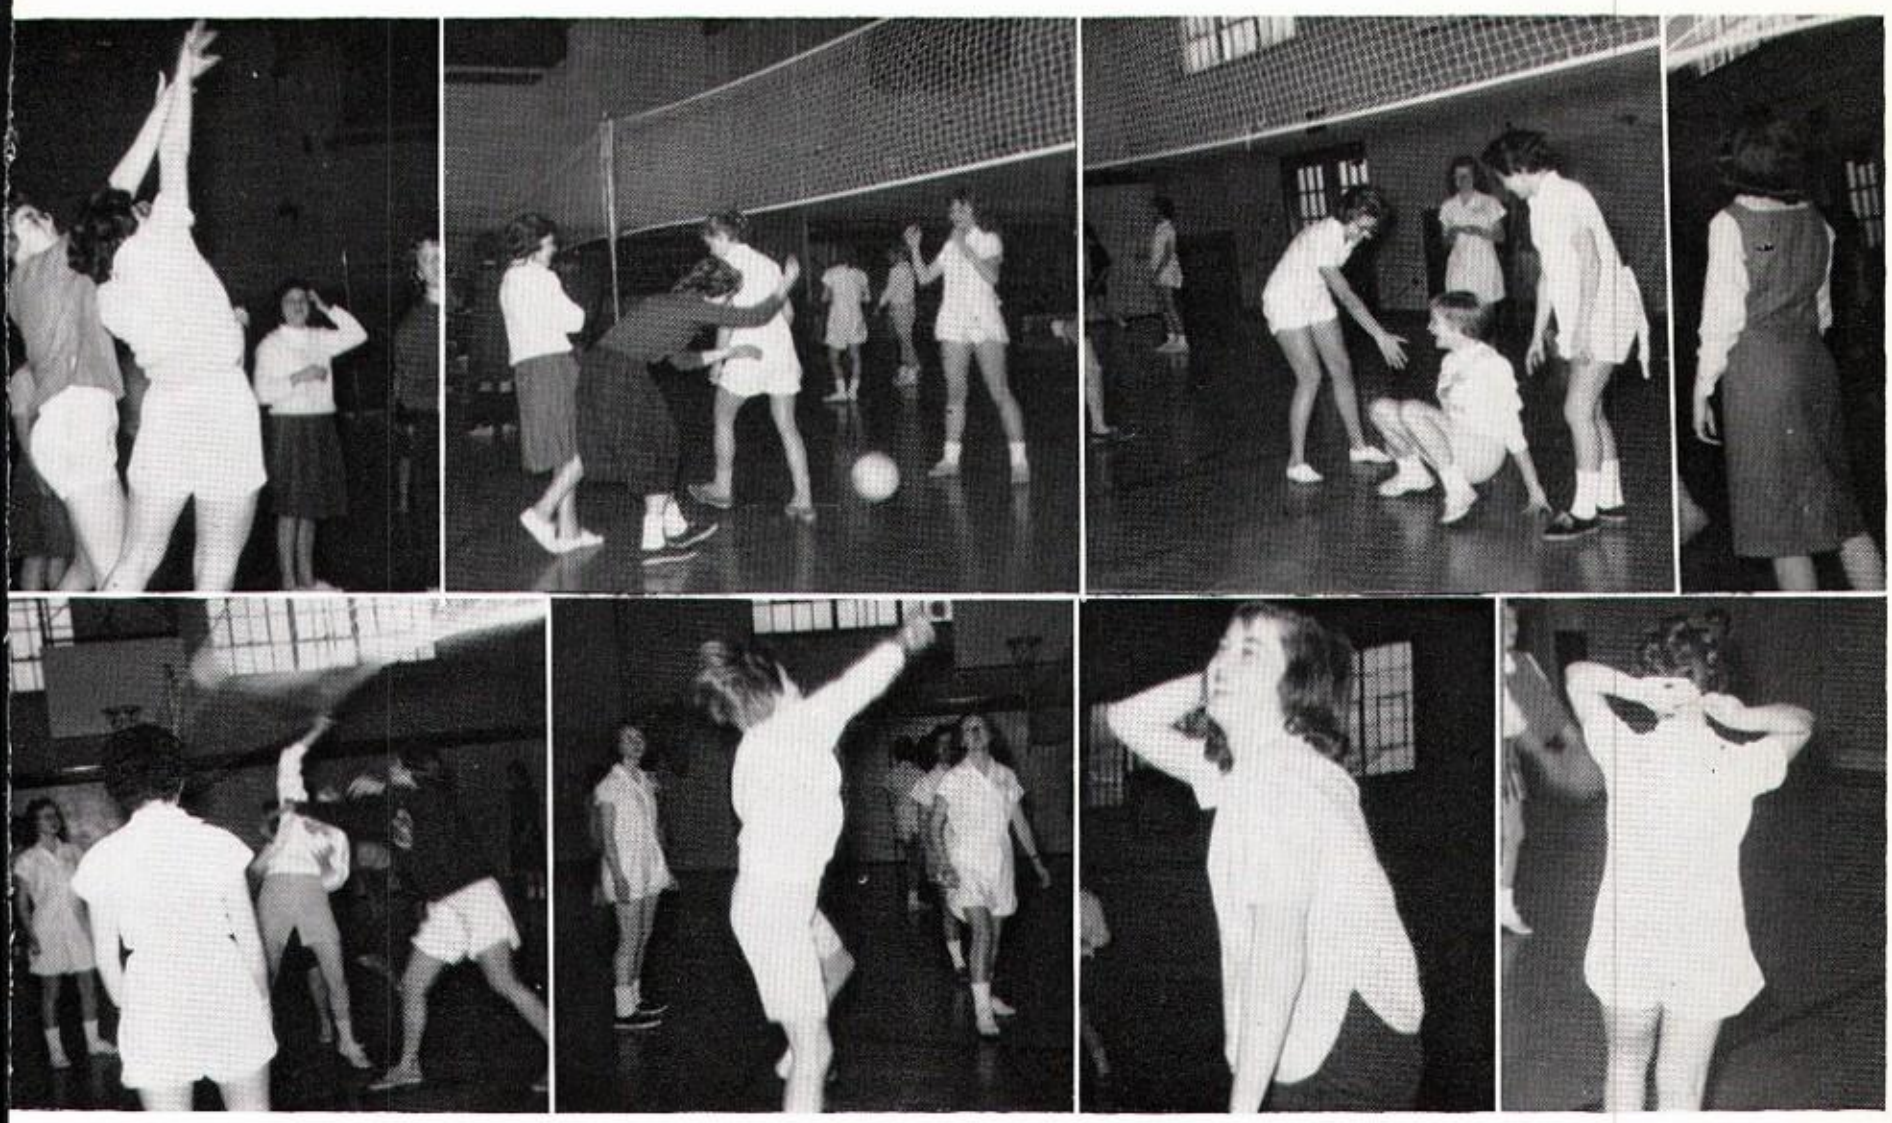
With Mr. William Miller, physical education teacher as supervisor, intramurals were played every Monday and Wednesday after school. The year's activities included touch football, basketball, foul shooting, volleyball, and handball. Volleyball proved to be the sport that the boys liked best because there were approximately sixty who took part. Even the faculty fielded a team to participate in some of the sports.

Climaxing each sport was an all-star game in which the champs of the respective sports defended their title against a team consisting of the top players of the remaining teams.

In recent years there has been a drop in the membership of the intramural program. Despite this, however, intramurals have the greatest membership of any other activity in school.







GIRLS' INTRAMURALS

With the first sign of autumn, girls at Kane High began their intramural season with wall soccer. This competition was dominated by Ginger Johnson's Slap Happys who took first place for the fifth consecutive year.

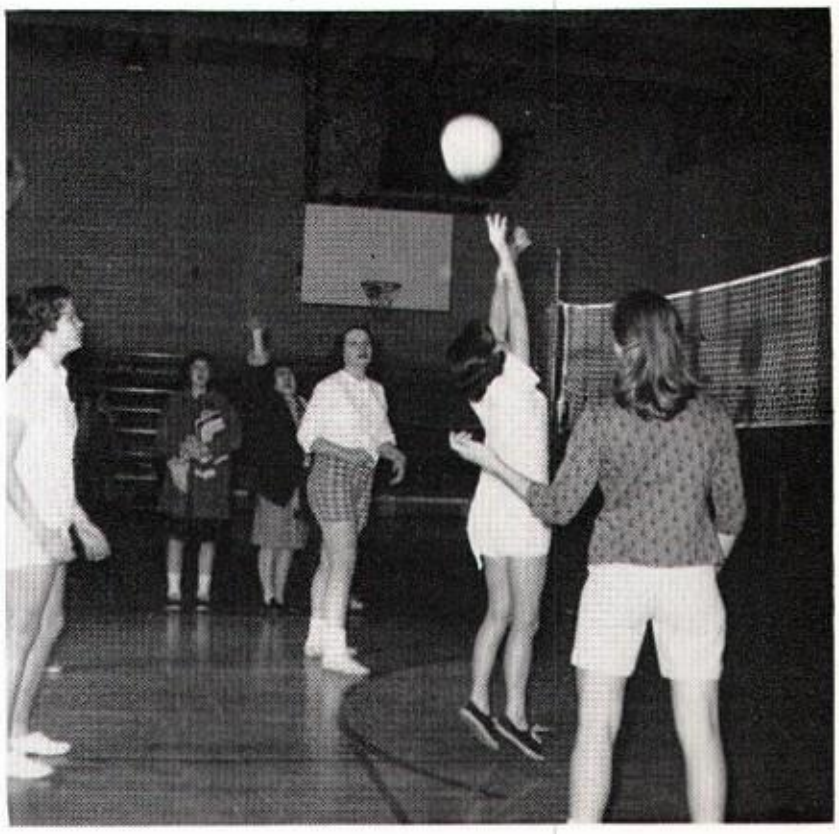
Foul shooting followed with Jan Senior on top, and Lois Peterson and Michele Mellander next.

Through Anke Putzka, exchange student from Germany, judo was added to the intramural program. Every Thursday night four girls were instructed in this sport.

The basketball championship was also won by the Slap Happys with the Hot Shots second.

Volleyball, badminton, and tennis completed intramurals for the year.

Mrs. Alice Turner supervised this activity, with Lois Peterson as senior manager. During the final assembly girls who had attained the highest number of points received K's.



SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

As everyone knows, Heaven is a wonderful place. Today we shall take a short visit to our future dwelling place (we hope).

Saint Peter, a calm, jovial fellow, a bit chubby with blue eyes and small glasses, was hard at work reading his record book.

All of a sudden a loud but strangely gentle voice startled him, "This is the Boss. I see that the last of the Class of '61 from Kane High has just sent in his application. Let us look over their entire record at once . . . Let me see . . .

Tom Ross became star center of the Minneapolis Lakers.

Paul Bloomquist became known as the only playboy beautician in America.

Donna Ferranto became known throughout Europe for winning several beauty contests.

Jean Stimmel, Carol Novosel, and Peggy Buchheit became professional skin divers at Kinzua Bridge.

Elaine Hollingshead became a very efficient cashier at Ingersoll's Gym in Mt. Jewett.

Bernie Lantz and Everett Larson made a successful comedy team on Ludlow's radio station WELL.

Sandy Strawcutter became a veterinarian specializing in drowned turtles.

Sue Clark, as a professional dance teacher, became famous for teaching Arthur Murray the twist.

Kenny Johnson and Glenn Smith were last seen dragged by a 450 pound minnow up Two Mile Creek.

Leta Burton finally won in her "shorten the skirts" campaign, ably assisted by Ange Cappello who also won every first prize in local centennials for his silken beard.

John Fees was following in his father's footsteps until he gave Dick Schrecengost arsenic instead of aspirin.

Roger Cochrane started a body building club in Kane called "Colorado's Cruncher Course." His first customers were Tank Smith, Jack Hedlund, and Babe Imbrogno, but he was proudest of his discovery of Ed Malmstrom, who went on to become "Mr. Universe 1969."

Joe Adamczyk was displayed at Smithsonian Institute for several years as the only human to use the school bell for an alarm.

A loud "Ahem" caused Saint Peter to look up with a scowl. Then he continued . . .

Jan Senior became a well-known game huntress in the wilds of Africa.

Linda Frost returned to good ole' Kane High and replaced Jiggs as driver's ed teacher.

Unfortunately, Michele Mellander was arrested for illegal betting at Churchill Downs. Her able captors were Larry Ewing and Fred Nowalk who also caught Dick Hyde in the act of hiding the roulette tables at the Y.M.C.A. when he thought a raid was coming.

Jody Bifano, we were all glad to hear, finally succeeded in her life time goal of enrolling at Princeton. Congratulations, Jody!

Gene Kline, that ever persuasive salesman, owns a chain of supermarkets known as "Klinker's Klunkers."

Bob Wells finally replaced Smokey Bear, who aged quite rapidly, as forest ranger of all U. S. parks.

Sandy Humes and Carolyn Hannold returned to Kane High to teach health and physical education.

Rose McMahon and Mary Irwin joined the volley ball team which captured 17 Olympic medals.

Janet Christy became the only woman driver on the Russell City By-Pass.

Congratulations are also in store for Anke Putzka, who proudly distributed Life Saving badges to every little girl in her swimming class.

Mary Lou Forsythe became head cook over Betty Garris, Darlene Davis, Judy Blaisdell, and Barb Reigel at the Conrad Hilton, Ludlow, Pa., where Bob Chapman smiles and scrapes plates.

John Paup and Ed Street accomplished the impossible (we all knew they would) in winning the Indianapolis 500—by pushing their car across the finish line.

Jeanette Mosier starred as Lady Macbeth in Mickey Zerbe's production at M.G.M. Gary Johnson, Earl Ross, Lee Gausman, and Paul Erickson designed the set.

Curt VanTine became a worldwide personality by his boxing matches at Madison Square Garden while Ken Knapp became Vassar's star miler.

Garry Kerr, Ken Adams, and Tom Deane became joint owners of the world's largest go-cart factory.

Faye Colker replaced Dior as fashion expert and Mary Lou Knapp became quite wealthy in her fashion field—designing Halloween costumes.

Karen McMichael made T.V. her career. Her biggest performance was the Ivory soap commercials.

"Is that in there?" came a voice. "Quiet please," was the answer.

John Cox became Hallmark's foremost designer in Christmas cards. His inspiring themes won worldwide recognition.

Barb Johnson became a lovely model in Denny Sturdevant's five and dime store.

Denny VanDervoort replaced Bob Richards as president of Wheaties, Breakfast of Champs, Inc.

Emmy Benson, an honor student of Lois Peterson, Diana Phillips and Carol Koza's art school, designed the whole new city of Washington, D.C.

Ginger Johnson took over Abby van Buren's advice column in the newspaper.

Roy Brinkley became owner of a baling wire factory when he bought out their supply to use on his car.

Jink Port, Dotty Kimbrough, Linda Hale sold the secrets of their hair color for $50,000,000 each.

Judy Orcutt managed a very successful bakery on 5th Avenue. Sandy Johnson and Joan Williamson displayed the goodies in the windows.

Doris Cartwright became the first woman mayor of Ludlow.

Bonnie Conklin and Karen Hanson founded an animal hospital in Outer Mongolia.

Jane Johnston, Edie Forquer, and Pam Conn invented a new keyless typewriter for all office practice classes.

Mary Montgomery became the first honorary female member of the Boy Scouts, a certainly great achievement!

"That sure was lucky for her," said an envious female angel. "No jealousy here," replied St. Peter sternly.

Pat Russell became a well known book publisher in Spain.

Dotty Pascale drove the school bus from Kane High to Jewett for thirty-eight years.

Jane Lind, Bert Sirianni, and Ruth Rietter made a splendid cheering squad at West Point Academy.

Mary Anderson became goalie on the All-American Hockey Team.

Jim Carley had the only house boat on the Kane Reservoir.

Elaine Neal certainly became famous when she introduced three hit songs in three weeks.

Tina Hesso invented the first mathematical golf game.

Peggy Benigni, Sally Johnson, Barb Long, and Susan Alderfer twirled three fire batons at once—the only majorettes to ever accomplish such a feat.

Joe Weston and Bob Popielski discovered an all filter cigarette and patented it under the name of "Weski."

Ron Zampogna became the owner of a drum which spurted the bubbles on Lawrence Welk's Show.

Gilbert Hamilton became a professional baseball pool winner.

Becke Johnson, Shirley Ferry, Carolyn Weilacher, and Susan Tunall sang as a Quartet on WCKY accompanied by Cindy Johnson on the electric harmonica.

Dede Leone, Mary Geary, and Sharon Morse became the only color guard team in Kane High's history to appear at the Rose Bowl Parade.

Nancy Duffee became the only Irish woman to take up permanent residence in Sweden.

Ron Haight, Bob Howard, and Jim Richardson started the first three man basketball team.

"Yea, team!" came an unexpected shout from an ex-cheerleader.

"Please, we'll have no more disturbances like that" pleaded St. Peter.

Brandy Holmes and Beanie Childress designed popular short hair styles for Paramount pictures.

Loretta Eck and Evelyn Alcorn drew up blueprints for an all glass motel built outside of Kane.

The Vaughn twins designed look-alike patterns for McCall's.

Tony Sirianni played the "laugh" in seventy-four Dracula movies.

Bill Thomas and Pete Thompson became life guards at Muscle Beach in Florida.

Anne Malmrose became librarian at the new, seven story Mt. Jewett library.

Paul Swanson managed a firm which sold leather jackets to pre-school children.

Jim Swanson, R., and Christy DeMarte, D., ran for president in 1972; their campaign managers were Laurie Humphrey and Roger Woll respectively. To everyone's surprise the vote was a tie, so both permanently left politics.

Bill Fridley made the Kane Manor into the largest hotel and resort in Eastern U. S.

Allan Kelly became the leading hitter in the American League.

Ray Engman, Jim Alexis, and Russell Swansan organized a detective agency to fight crime in Chicago.

Jacky Campbell became a famous teacher specializing in loud cheers and screams.

With a great sigh, St. Peter closed the book and said in a small weak voice, "That's it, Sir."

The voice again thundered, "Let's build a replica of Kane High School so they will never forget earth's own little heaven for the class of "61!"
